The Truth About the Sun

It is true that everyone is incorrect about the Sun; even Dr. Rudolf Stainer, the German initiate, was also incorrect when referring to this Astral King that sheds us with its light. For example, he firmly believed that the physical sun did not exist. He emphasized on his idea that what illuminated our planet was a group of Divine Beings, meaning that if we could reach the sun, we would not find anything physical and palpable, based on his belief, these divine beings were shedding their light and we were benefiting ourselves from it.

Well, that is a line of thought. Stainer did not realize that matter and spirit are perfectly balanced and thus, that the physical Sun really exists. He only saw the spiritual side of the Sun, but it is clear that we must know the physical Sun exists.

Question – It is told in the scientific world, that scientists have affirmed the Sun is like a flame, an incandescent body with many thousand degrees of heat and that it's igneous constitution is what makes it's heat reach us, but the truth is that we have not been able to know anything for certain; what is its temperature?; what is it made of?; etc. Could you please explain it to us Venerable Master?

Answer – With the utmost pleasure my dear Missionary Brother Efraín Villegas Quintero, I will answer your question. Regular people believe the Sun is a ball of fire, and that concept is incorrect and false. It is a medieval line of thought. Back in the middle ages, it was thought the Sun as the star that shone its light to our planet, was a ball of fire. It is an incorrect line of thought, but that is humanity.

Certain scientists supposed the Sun was an incandescent cloud of Helium. If that were true, then the planets of our Solar System would fall out of their orbits; they would not gravitate around the Sun. The fact that they gravitate around this luminous center shows with utmost clarity that we have a physical Sun. Such scientist that affirms that the Sun is a weightless cloud of Helium, based on his incorrect calculations, is definitely an illustrious ignorant.

Now I ask you: Over what nucleus or gravitational center could be based our Solar System? The fact that the worlds gravitate around such an Astro shows that that world, the star we call Sun, is heavy; heavier that all the other planets in our Solar System. That is only how we can explain how do other planets orbit and gravitate around the Sun; but that is not what the men of science believe.

We, the Occultists, have marvelous instruments for the investigation of life in superior worlds. The Astral Body, the Eidolón, allows us to travel from one planet to another.

With such a vehicle called the Eidolón, the Astral or Sidereal Body, I have transported myself many times to the Astral King. Because of that, I know it very well, I know how it functions, and of what is it made of, how is its surface and what is on it. I can state that the Sun is a gigantic world, millions of times bigger than Earth or Jupiter; it is rich in minerals, vegetation, and rich in animal and human life.

It has high sierras, it has North and South Poles with ice caps, deep seas, extraordinary jungles, etc. Though it may appear incredible, there are places in the Sun where you could die out of cold, huge mountains covered in snow with cold climates, and there are also temperate and warm climates as well. The coasts are, for example, hot because they are close to the seas... it is obvious that coasts should be hot areas.

All kinds of climate exist in the Sun. Its inhabitants would never live in cities. They consider it is absurd to develop cities and I agree with them. Life in the city is harmful and inadequate at a high degree. In the cities, human beings live on top of each other in multi-story buildings, houses are too close to one another, we live between the smoke of the factories and that of automobiles, we bump against each other, and hurt each other voluntarily and involuntarily.

Because of that, the inhabitants of the Sun would never make the mistake of living in cities. They dislike cities and thus, live in the open country; however, they live in small – very small – villages where they conduct their scientific investigations.

Once in my Sidereal vehicle – or Astral Body – I was talking to a group of Solar wise men. They gave me their undivided attention, what is interesting is that even though I was there with my Astral Body (or Sidereal Body) they were able to see me and hear me. There is no doubt that they were there in their bodies of tissue and bones, but even though they were in their physical bodies, they were able to see me and hear me as if I had been in my physical body. They possess extraordinary faculties of clairvoyance and clariaudiencia.

We had a conversation sitting before a beautiful table, when then they asked to be excused because it was the moment for them to go to their observatory. I saw them there looking through their lenses. I also saw them make enormous and complicated mathematical calculations. Those days they were very worried with a distant system of worlds, placed millions of light years away from where they lived in the Sun. They were interested in deeply investigating those worlds because they were planning on making an expedition to the worlds on that solar system. It is clear that the inhabitants of the Sun possess marvelous cosmic vehicles that can travel through space, but they were tracing and calculating the route to get there with the highest precision.

I was honestly mesmerized, amazed. The telescopes they have are extraordinary. Speaking in esoteric terms, such telescopes can be called TESCOHANOS, an exotic term don't you agree? TESCOHANOS, all right. It is a novelty for you to know that there are inhabitants in the Sun, isn't it?

Well, also know that with their telescopes they can also see Earth, like any other planet of the Solar System. With their lenses, not only can they see our world, but our cities and our houses. They can see the people in each house they want to investigate... not only see them physically, but they can see them esoterically and spiritually.

They can clearly see people's auras and their psychology. They do not ignore the disastrous state our Planet is; they regret our current state and wish the best for our world. Shamefully, we have to recognize that Earth has failed. In no way they wish to build relationships with people who possess their Ego, their 'Self', their legion of demons.

The inhabitants of the Sun will only make contact with "absolutely dead" people. When I say "absolutely dead people" I do not mean physical death, please understand me. I emphatically refer to the elimination of the Ego. When I say “absolutely dead people” I mean they only wish to make contact with people who have disintegrated their Ego, who have died in themselves, who have eliminated their ‘Self’, who are free from their ‘Self’.

And they are right; I am in total agreement with them because those who have their Ego, who still have their ‘Self’, irradiate sinister, fatal, diabolical and perverse vibrations. People as such bring in disorder wherever they go, people with such egotistical and diabolical conditions could never live in harmony within the infinite. Because of such reason is that they do not want to build relationships with individuals or people who have not died within themselves, who have not dissolved their ‘Self’, their Ego.

It comes to my mind some beautiful passages from the Sun. There is a sea so deep, with such clear and beautiful waters that I became mesmerized. Many times in my Astral Body I have gotten to a certain bay in a small boat where I have rested and reposed for hours. It is clear that in the Astral World you can navigate in ships and boats made of astral matter, but you can also get into any physical vehicle.

Anyone who knows how to travel with their Astral Body can do the same. It is clear that you have to be conscious, those who are asleep cannot do such things. It appears to me that that bay is extraordinarily beautiful; that sea is millions of times greater than the whole planet Earth; I can assure you that if we pour the 7 Seas of our planet into that sea, it would be as like pouring a glass of water into an ocean. Think about what it means to you the size of that ocean. Any of our oceans is like a puddle of water when compared to this immense sea I am referring to in the Sun. Every now and then I saw certain sea creatures rise to the surface, they contemplated the horizon and submerged into the incalculable depth of that Solar Sea. This is unexplainable to the people on this planet Earth.

People these days think the Sun is a fire ball and there is no one who can change that frame of mind. Looking the Sun from an Astral perspective, it is extraordinary.

For example, there is a secret path that leads to a Temple in the Heart of the Sun... of course it is not a physical path... and I want all of you to understand that, I refer to a secret pathway, Astral, esoteric, that leads as I stated before, to a Temple in the Heart of the Sun. It is a path that does not belong to the dense matter, as we know it. When you approach to see it on the surface, it looks like a tenebrous abyss of incalculable depth, but down at the bottom you can see flames.

In my Astral Body I have descended down that abyss, down to the flames. There is a Supreme Being who will bless you; he is the Keeper of the Gate. He will bless you with Olive branches and through a secret path you reach the Temple of the Heart of the Sun. The seven Chohanes, the seven Great Beings who work in the Solar System, are there.

In there you feel the flow of the Great Life, the systole and diastole of the system in which we live, in which we move, in which we live, where we move and where our Being resides. We can say that there IS the Heart of the Sun, the heart of our Solar System. Seeing it from the distance, it looks like a man walking through the infinite space. It has functional organs, for example, Mars is the liver of our Solar System and the Sun, properly stated, is the heart of our Solar System, but we have to look for that heart inside the nucleus of that mass.

As a matter of fact, the Sun's most powerful ray vibrates in the aurora and belongs to the Kundalini. Because of this it is that it results so interesting and even recommended to practice Sahaja Maithuna during the aurora, as the Sun rises every day.

There also exist different Elemental Creatures of Nature, just as in every other planet. Life flows and re-flows with incessant beauty.

Scientists suppose the Sun is a ball of fire or an incandescent cloud of Helium, or whatever; common people think the Sun is like a huge fire and that the closer you get, most likely you'll burn, but there is no such a thing. If you climb a mountain 5,000 meters high, you can die because of the cold, and if you go up in a stratospheric balloon, well there you will die because of the cold. In the interplanetary space, the temperature drops to one hundred and twenty degrees below zero. Then, there is no such a thing as a fireball; it is a world extremely rich in Uranium, Radium, Cobalt mines, etc. Because it is so huge, the radiation that comes out of those mines is also huge and powerful. Adding together all those mines produces incredible radiation. All the atomic radiation out of those mines travels through space and is decomposed in Light, Heat, Color and Sound as it passes through our atmosphere.

It is precisely the upper atmosphere what analyzes and decomposes the Solar Rays in Light, Heat, Color and Sound, but within the interplanetary space there is an intense cold, as I said before, down to 120° below zero.

As you see, it is not that the Sun is a fireball as regular people and scientists believe, but a world rich in mines and its radiation is what become Light, Heat, Color and Sound as it reaches our atmosphere. Its radiations not only reach the Earth, but all the worlds of our Solar System and in each planet happens the same phenomenon.

After this explanation, it is appropriate to eliminate once and for all those false ideas and know that the Sun is not a fireball. Many astronomers are distracted studying the Sun's corona, they think that corona must be made out of physical, dense mass, but there is no such a thing. The Corona is a kind of Aurora Borealis formed by the electric and magnetic fields of the Sun. That is all.

Question – Excuse me Master, but I would like to ask you; does that mean that if our planet did not have an atmosphere, our world would be in darkness?

Yes. Simply by the fact of not having an atmosphere of any kind on Earth, it would then be a world in darkness. In this case, someone could object that there is no atmosphere in the Moon and that there are still times of light and times of darkness, or that the Moon has one side in darkness and one side in light, based on known periods of the cosmos that are our astronauts successfully use during their expeditions.

But let me tell you that the Moon has a thin atmosphere. It has been officially accepted that the Moon has its own atmosphere. It might be thin, but there is one, and that atmosphere can perfectly decompose the Solar Rays in Light, Heat, Color and Sound.

If there were no atmosphere in our planet, that decomposition would not happen and there would only be darkness. However, the dense mass could also oppose (exert resistance against) the Solar Rays, and that resistance could lead to the development of heat. It could also be possible that that dense mass exerting resistance against the radiation, not only converted that radiation into heat, but light. Then there would also be light, but the heat would be unbearable.

Question – Master, you have told us that there are human beings who live in the Sun. Could you tell us, how are those human beings, how do they look like?

The inhabitants of the Sun are people with a body and a stature similar to the people of the Earth, but their bodies are harmonious, perfect, and beautiful. Men and women live in an insuperable harmony. Do you understand?

Question – Venerable Master, you have told us in your books there exists a Central Sun, Sirio, and that it is millions of times bigger than our Sun. I would like to ask you Master, do you know that Sun? Could you tell us if there is life in that immense world and how is life out there?

Well, Sirio is the capital of our Galaxy. This galaxy, the Milky Way, the macro cosmos, has millions of solar systems and all those suns and planets in this galaxy orbit around Sirio, the Central Sun.

It is a sun millions of times bigger than our Sun. The Central Sun has a twin brother, a moon five thousand times heavier than Lead. That moon orbits around Sirio incessantly. Sirio is thus, a “double star”. It is interesting to know that the nucleus of this great galaxy is bipolar. From Sirio we receive all those radiations that rule the heavens and the worlds that make up our galaxy, and from its twin brother – that Moon five-thousand times denser than Lead – arrive all those tenebrous and negative influences, that characterize each one of the lunar satellites orbiting around their respective worlds; emitting the fatal and tenebrous radiation that rules the underworld.

There is a third force we call Neutral, that allows for certain equilibrium between positive and negative forces. See for yourselves how a galaxy is adequately balanced between light and darkness, between positive and negative.

Sirio by itself is a gigantic world rich in mineral, vegetal, animal and human life. Its inhabitants are short in stature, they don't exceed a meter in height, I think around half a meter. Their bodies are slim, beautiful and are Adept Masters of the White Brotherhood.

In Sirio, no one can reincarnate unless they have reached the height of a Kumará. In Sirio, Men are truly Gods. They live humbly out in the country, no one thinks about creating cities... developing cities is adequate of people short of intelligence, they would never make that mistake. They live in humble homes, wear simple over garments, they plant and grow their own food, so each home has its garden, they plant their flowers, and live in peace and harmony with one another.

No one will think about creating war... all of that is barbaric and savage. Sirians are cult and knowledgeable people, illuminated men and women in the most transcendental meaning. The Transcendent Church is located at Sirio. You would be amazed entering that Temple of Wonders. The Great initiates of the Galaxy office their duties; I have attended their rites various times.

It is constant the re-living of the cosmic drama: the life, passion and death of Christ. As I have told you before, that drama is totally cosmic in nature. In the Temple of the Heart of Sirio, that gigantic world, that extraordinary world, we find the Sirian God and with him, all his adepts, initiates and his disciples. Sirio is the capital of the galaxy in which we live. It is thus, extraordinary and marvelous. Let's leave it here for now.
